Lincoln Ball!

Do you think Lincoln is beautiful? Now imagine the college furnished with extravagant decorations, a ridiculous variety of bands spread across three stages, and unlimited food and drink until the early hours of the morning. Introducing Lincoln Ball, the littest night of 2020. This only happens once every two years, so feel free to GET HYPED!

Academic Team – Structure Breakdown

Members, Responsibilities, and Layout

Who makes up the Academic Team?

The Academic Team has a 5-6 members who are working on different projects to provide the MCR with mentally stimulating activities to attend.

- Elected Academic Representatives (3 People)
 - In charge of the coordination of Lincoln Leads on an annual basis.
 - Carry out the planning of new and continuing academic projects.
 - Oversee the implementation of projects run by other Project Leads.
 - Report back to the MCR Committee with updates and news.
- Selected Project Leaders (2-3 People)
 - In charge of the coordination of single projects.
 - Organize and carry out a chosen academic project for the MCR.
 - Report back to the Academic Representatives with updates and feedback.

What is the Academic Team doing?

The Academic Team is working on multiple projects throughout the year. Some projects require more work than others and more resources, such as time and manpower.

- Lord Florey Talks
- Lincoln Leads
- DissertTea
- MCR-gue
- MCR-chive

How is Lincoln Leads Planned?

The Academic Representatives take on the responsibility of planning, organizing, and implementing the Lincoln Leads Series.

Academic Representatives work with Lincoln College to invite a Lincoln fellow and an alumni for each panel in the series.

Academic Representatives review applications from members of the MCR and select 8 Panel Chairs to be in charge of one seminar each.

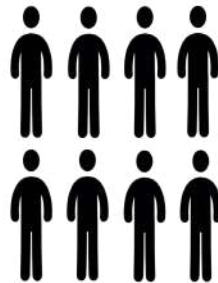

Academic Representatives advertise each of the seminars and hold the Lincoln Leads Series in Lincoln College as an open-to-the-public event.
